All

Here is some historical data for the National Monuments and National Conservation Areas visitation 2005 -2013. In addition there is a separate spreadsheet with last years totals gathered from RMIS.

Hi, Jeff. We have been asked for visitation data for "all 27 NMs", but I would think we don't have data for all of the new ones. They want data for the ones in the review and all of the others, too.

TPs would certainly be helpful. This is all coming about because there is a sense in some corners that we shouldn't be disseminating "unverifiable, estimated" data and I need to be able to clearly explain why we do and why the data is still reliable. I have told them that I routinely pivot it into a positive ... i.e. we don't have exact head counts like the NPS because our lands our open and nearly all free for people to explore and enjoy, etc. However, anything more I can do to offer an explanation of why this data is solid and why it's okay to release it would be helpful.

Megan,

Are you in the office now? I'm here on the 6th floor for awhile if you want to talk. Would it be helpful to have some talking points on our visitor estimations?

Also, could you give us a list of the NLCS units you are looking for the data for? Is it all those in the executive order? Jeff

Megan - We need to know if this is for NM's only or for NM's and NCA's? We will need the State and name of the unit. From our experience with Bears Ears we may need to follow up with the State/Field office too. This may take some time beyond this week.

Not so far. It would be a matter or setting up a query in RMIS to select for the NMs and NCAs.

Thanks, Andy. For a little more explanation, I am trying to get some approval from 100 to begin releasing visitation data for our NMs due to the ongoing requests for it. I know you have gotten a call or two for it, as well. Before I pull together a call with 100 to explain how we create the data and why we should be allowed to release it, I wanted to ask who you want to attend a call with 100 on this topic. I wasn't sure if you would want me to drag your staff into that morass or if you would rather do it. Up to you.

Hi Megan
Please coordinate with Andy. RMIS is our best source of visitation data
and except for the very new units,
should have a breakout for the NM/NCAs. As you note our visitation is estimated - we don't count every person - but as I recall the estimation/multiplication factor for each unit is identified in RMIS so we have documented the calculation we are doing.

Hi, Karen and Steve. I need to coordinate with both 200 and 400 regarding visitation data for our national monuments. Ultimately, we are getting a lot of press and advocacy inquiries and I am working to see what is involved in developing this data (where we can --I know some NMs just won't have it). We have to also put together an explanation/statement of why our data is estimated and I can tackle that (there is angst in some corners because our data is estimated not verifiable and I believe that is a very easy pivot to a positive because our lands are open to explore so hard head counts aren't possible). I'm bugging you to see who you would like to have me speak with or should it be one of you because I need to put together a call with 100 hopefully late this week to discuss this issue. Patrick asked that I coordinate with you so your rep at that meeting is prepared and knows what the issue is.
